TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY NEEDED, UNDER RULES

Four Hours of Debate to Be Equally Divided Between Supporters and Foes of Bill.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, March 22 .- Extreme confidence that the soldiers' bonus bill would be passed by the house be fore sundown tomorrow was expressed today by republican leaders in charge of the legislation. The last preliminary step to the presentation of their program was tak en today with the adoption by the rules committee of a resolution making tomorrow a special suspension day and setting aside- four hours instead of the usual forty minutes for debate. This resolution was to be presented when the house convened at 11 a, m omorrow, an hour ahead of the usual time. There was to be an hour's dismir ites allotted to each side. Demo cratic leaders planned to make a de termined fight against the resolution but the republicans were satisfied that it would obtain the necessary major ity for its adoption.

Four Hours' Talk. With the adoption of the rule, Speaker Gillette was expected to recognize Chairman Fordney of the ways suspend the rules and pass the bonus bill. There would then be four hours re of discussion, two hours under the control of Mr. Fordney and two hours under the control of Representative Garner, of Texas, the ranking democrat on the ways and means com ittee. Mr. Fordney expected to allot one hour to republican opponents of the bill and Mr. Garner planned to give one hour to democratic supporters Leading supporters of the measure did not expect the total votes against it to exceed 75, while some opponents said the neg-ative vote probably would not go be-

Under a suspension of the rules the bill could not be amended in any particular nor could opponents offer s motion to recommit with instructions to the ways and means committee to make changes in the measure. Demo cratic leaders in their fight on th resolution for suspension planned to lay emphasis upon this ituation. They expected the minority membership to vote almost solidly against the resolution and counted on some support from the republican side. After a conference today with Pres ident Harding about his bill to appropriate $17,000,000 for hospitals fo ick and disabled veterans, Representative Langley, republican, Kentucky, announced that he would try to call the measure up ahead of the bonus hill Representative Mondell, of Wy oming, the majority leader, and Chair man Campbell of the rules committee said, however, that he would be un successful. Mr. Mondell said the hos pitalization bill would be taken up

Speaker Gillette said he had not been advised that Mr. Langley would make an effort to call up that measure Informal conferences of some state felegations were held today with a the members on the bonus bill and others will be held tomorrow. It was indicated that the greatest opposition to the bill from the republican side would come from the New York and New England delegations. The on the democratic side was Arguments Begun and Case Is Expected to Go to Jury Early Thursday Afternoon.

Millen, Ga., March 22,-(Special.) Following the statement of Justice of Peace R. H. Chance, one of five men indicted for slaying Watson Allen Christmas day, on trial here, in which he declared that he did not fire a single shot at the deceased, arguments were begun tonight and the jury is expected to begin its deliberations Thursday afternoon.

Chance asserted that his son, Roscoe Chance, fell into his arms, crying, "Oh, father, he has killed me. What did he do it for?" as he was passing Allen's house in an automobile December 25, and was fired upon

"I had no part in the killing of Allen," he continued, "I regret it. God knows I do. I was on my way to the home of my son, Ashley Chance, Sunday morning, in my automobile and was accompanied by Roscoe and Sidney and Carey Rowe, my nephews, and W. R. Lewis, my on the front porch of Allen's home. "The next time I saw Sidney Rowe, he was coming from the front of Allen's home. As he started off, he layed his shotgun down on the front porch and I told him he had better bring it along. He asked me about the pistol of Alllen's and I told him to bring it also, which he did.

"I did not know that there wer any firearms in the car. I had all I could do to attend to my boy, who looked like he would die every minute. Watson Allen and myself never had any trouble of any kind over anything."

After the defendant's statement be fore the jury, several witnesses were put up in rebuttal testimony. The state and defendants closed at 6 o'clock and court adjourned until 8 p. m. when the arguments by counsel began.

Operations in Court.

For the first time in the history of court trials in Georgia, according to attorneys here, operations wer performed in open court as part of evidence submitted by the defense to day. When court opened the first witness used for the defense was Dr. C. Thompson, who testified as to the wounds of the dead man. At the request of attorneys, Dr. Thompson performed two surgical operation two of the co-defendants, Rose Chance and Sidney Rowe, removing shot from their arms, which alleged to have been fired by Allen from his porch. The shots remove from their arms were No. 4, said to be the number shot with which Allen's gun was loaded. Roscoe Chance and Sidney Ro undressed and their bodies exhibited to the jury, showing the location the wounds they received.

Quote Armistice Pact.

"The armistice agreement concluded between the allied and associated gov-ernments and Germany on November 11, 1918, provided for military occu-pation by the allied and United States forces jointly, and it was expressly provided that:

"The upkeep of the troops of occupation in the Rhine districts (excluding Alsace-Lorraine shall be charged to the Garman go ernment.

"It is not believed that the metaing of this agreement can be regarded as doubtful. It had not only its exclusion. as doubtful. It had not only its express provision, but its necessary implications. It is the view of this government, and it is confidently believed that it is the view of all the governments concerned, that this agreement on the part of the allied and associated governments with Gen. and associated governments with Getmany, and with each other, had the clear import that the powers associated in this joint enterprise should stand upon an equal footing as to the payment of all the actual costs of their armies of occupation and that none of the powers could, consistently with the agreement, make any arrangement for a preferential or exclusive right of payment. Further, it is assumed that it would not for a moment be contended that any of the allied powers would have been entitled to enter into any agreement by which all the assets or revenues of the German empire and its constituent states would be taken for their benefit to the exclusion of any of the other powers concerned.

"It was apparently in recognition of the existing and continuing obligation as to army costs, that, in the treaty of Versailles, in undertaking to place a "first charge upon all the assets and revenues of the German empire and its constituent states," (article 248) priority was given to the total cost of all armies of the allied and associated governments in occupied German territory from the date of the signature of the armistice agreement.

Slayer of Sheriff Catron Escapes Death Penalty in Second Trial in Chat-

Summerville, Ga., March 22 .-(Special.)-James Douglas, slayer of Sheriff A. G. Catron, of Walker county, must serve a life sentence in the state penitentiary, having been convicted by a jury in Chattooga superior court here this morning.

The case went to trial at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and the state only introduced three witnesses, resting its case at noon. The defendant made his statement as soon as court convened after noon recess and no witnesses were put on the stand for Douglas. The case went to the jury at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and a verdict was rendered at 9 o'clock this morning.

Held in Rome.

Douglas was brought here from the Floyd county jail at Rome for the trial by Sheriff Wilson of Floyd county. He was carried back to Rome last night and again brought to Summerville this morning to hear the verdict of the jury.

In the former trial at Lafayette, Douglas was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to hang. The supreme court granted him a new trial and a change of venue to this county was asked.

Chappes of Venue

Solicitor-General Taylor consented to the change to this county because he thought less trouble would be experienced in securing a qualified jury to try the case. A-large crowd of Walker people attended the trial. It is thought Douglas will accept the sentence and there will be no further legal battle. Douglas claimed he did not know Sheriff Catron when he shot him and thought he was he shot him and thought he was shooting someone who was trying to rob him. He did not deny the shoot-

TWELVE ARE INJURED
IN TROLLEY CRASH

Cleveland, Ohio, March 22.—Twelve persons were hurt, some of them seriously, when a heavily laden Detroit avenue trolley car crashed into the rear of a Cleveland and Southwestern interurban car in the downtown section of the city this morning. Both cars were crowded with men and women passengers bound for work when the crash occurred. Several Washington, March 22 .- (By Con stitution Leased Wire.)-A protest against unethical practice on the part of certain elements of the legal profession was made in the house today when Judge W. W. Larsen, of Georgia, called for an investigation into alleged methods employed in securing claims for prosecution against the covernment. The particular instance cited had to do with additional sums said to be available as increased pay to ex-air service cadets of the United States army.

In his speech, Congressman Larse produced evidence to show that an undesirable element" of attorneys, ocated in the national capital, was soliciting these claims in the state of Georgia and elsewhere on a large scale. The branch of ex-service men mentioned, he stated, are being inveigled into signing contracts requiring them to pay fees greatly out of proportion to the service rendered, beng 50 per cent in some cases.

Larsen took the opportunity to plead for a higher plane for the legal pro fession of the country. He advocated a federal statute against barratry, which is already legislated against in a number of states.

Attorney Useless.

Attention was called to the fact that the government handles cases of the kind as expeditiously without the assistance of an attorney as with one Referring to a paragraph in one of the letters soliciting prompt action in sending power of attorney to handle the claim, Judge Larsen said: "Why such prompt action; why representation before the court, when in all probability the claims will be passed upon by the government with out litigation?" Necessity for quick action is implied, he stated, in order that the attorney may proceed in the court before such practice is prohibit-

No Expense Necessary.

"If these ex-service men have valid claims against the government since the legal principle involved has been settled, I am quite sure they will be able to collect their claims without the service of an attorney," he said. "No member of congress is unwilling to aid them, and I believe they can and will be glad to make the collection without any expense to these deserving heroes."

Even though there is no law against barratry in the District of Columbia Judge Larsen stated that in so much claims were handled through the postoffice department federal investigation would be invoked with the view of stopping the practice. The delivery of such matters through the mail in states having statutes on the subject constitutes a violation of the law by postal authorities, it is said. Farts of Judge Larsen's speech advocating a stated fee by in cases of the kind are as follow.

Part of Speech.

"The fee agreement to which letters refer provides that the attorney shall receive one-third of the amount collected. Authorities in the war department advise me that the total amount of all such claims to which reference is made is estimated to be from three to five million dollars. Should attorneys collect these fees, under terms of the contract as set out, they would receive for services from $1,000,000 to $1,600,000. Section 13, of amendment to the war risk insurance act, provides that a fee of more than $3 shall not be charged. This legislation has saved many million dollars to ex-service men and their dependents and has prevented grafters from collecting and demanding excessive fees from them.

"If the provisions which congress has heretofore adopted regulating fees to be charged for the collection of insurance and compensation, is not applicable to this class of cases I believe it is the duty of congress at this time to pass appropriate legislation to regulate and prevent the collection of such fees as some lawyers seem inclined to do, and as others undoubtedly will do if the opportunits be afforded them." Physics and purgatives will fail. What you need is a scientific blood-cleanser. S. S. S. is one of the most powerful destroyers of blood impurities. You can prove this in a short time. S. S. S. has been passed on by a jury of millions of people hust like yourself. It is considered one of the most powerful vegetable blood-purifiers and flesh-builders in existence. That's why you hear of so many underweight people putting on lost flesh in a hurry, why you hear of so many rheumatics being freed from this soourse, with S. S. S. Start today with S. S. and see your face clear and your skin get ruddier, your flesh firmer. It will give you a boost in your career? S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says skin pores are closed and uric acid remains in blood.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or fank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions, it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called theumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four cunces of Jad Salts: put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Had Winchester.

Gary Rowe, one of the codefendants called by the defense testified that he shot at Allen with a Winchester rifle, which he had put in the back of the automobile under a cushion. ushion.

Explaining why he had it along on Sunday, he said he was on his way to his father's home at Hiltonia to hunt and he expected to meet his father at Floyd Chance's home that day.

"As we neared the house of Wat son Allen." said Rowe, "I heard two shots fired and looked up quick, and saw Watson Allen standing on his front porch, near the corner of the house shooting at us. Roscoe Chance fell out of the car and screamed that he was killed, and asked who was shooting and what it was being done for.

he was killed, and asked who was shooting and what it was being done for.

"I jumped out of the car when saw my brother, Sidney, going to ward the Allen house, and started following him with my rifle, which I had gotton from behind the seat after Allen fired at the party. When I reached the house I heard pistor shots, and about that time I saw Al len through the window.

Begins to Fire.

"Thinking that he was sheoting my brother, Sidney, I began to fire in the house, and to shoot at Allen I do not know how many shots I fired or whether I hit Allen or not. Both of the Bowe boys swore that R. H. Chance, the defendant on trial had nothing to do with the shooting, that he was at the automobile with his son Roscoe, who was badly wounded trying to render first aid, at the time the battle was going on, and further that R. H. Chance did not go near the house, neither did he have any kind of firearms.

Court adjourned until 2 o'clock with the cross-examination of Garey Rowe to be conducted.

TO FILE SUIT AGAINST MACON GAS COMPANY

Macon, Ga., March 22.—(Special.)
A suit for $50,000 against the Macon Gas company will be filed here tomorrow morning by Mrs. Rennie Thomas, of Climax, Ga., mother of Lynton E. Thomas, who with O. R. Allen, was found dead in the home of A. B. Crump on February 27, 1721.

When the two young men were found dead, several theories were advanced as to the probable cause. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that they came to their deaths from inhaling gas fumes. In the petition to be filed tomorrow, it is claimed they came to their deaths by inhaling carbon monoxide escaping from a gas heater that was improperly adjusted to the flow of gas furnished by the gas company and that the quality of gas furnished was unsuited to the heater.

This suit against the gas company brings th. total amount of damages sought from the company in suits filed recently to $300,000. The remainder represents suits filed as a result of the Brown House fire several months ago, following an explosion attributed to escaping gas.

HELPING 19,000,000 PEOPLE

About 19,000,000 people are insured in the Metropolitan-over 16,000,000 under weekly premium policies. The weekly calls of Agents at the policyholders' homes provide a wonderful opportunity for health and) welfare

The Company has accepted the opportunity and to-day is at the forefront of public health work in America.

14,000,000 VISITS BY TRAINED NURSES.

Free nursing service is given to Industrial policy-holders in 2,800 cities and towns. Trained nurses not only I the sick but teach right living. About 14,000,000 visits have been made-2,116,875 in 1921 alone. Numerous letters tell of lives saved.

DISCOVERING DISEASE IN TIME

Free medical examinations often disclosing incipient disease in time to cure it, are granted to Ordinary (annual premium) policy-holders, subject to reasonable conditions.

HELPING THE EMPLOYER TO HELP

Employers insuring their employees under Group policies are advised regarding health conditions and accident prevention, while 'the employees receive the benefits of nursing service and welfare literature.

238,000,000 PIECES OF LITERATURE

Attractive booklets and pamphlets in great variety, dealing with the important phases of health and disease, and prepared by leading experts, are distributed broadcast. So far, 238,-000,000 copies have been distributed-25,000,000 in 1921. In addition, 18,000,000 copies of The Metropolitan, a health magazine, are issued annually.

A CITY THAT IS WATCHED

In Framingham, Mass., the Metroolitan is leading the way in a great experiment, watched by health authorities throughout the country, to dem onstrate what proper municipal health regulation can do. Deaths from tuberculosis have dropped from 121 per 100,000 to 40 per annum.

Records kept by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its Industrial, or weekly premium, policy-holders. Comparing 1921 with 1911, for example, there were 55,000 less deaths in 1921 than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

What brought about the great saving of life?

The general public health movement-progress in medical science and sanitationother causes, perhaps. But a very great factor has been the tremendous health campaign carried on by the Metropolitan itself. This page tells a part of the story.

stalling the coal strike set for April

1, officials of the United Mine Workers of America tonight declared that the miners were ready for a general suspension of many weeks' duration.

None, however, would predict how long the walkout would continue, asserting that the fight could continue indefinitely.

While no official forecast of the length of the strike was made, it was declared authoritatively that the union officials felt that any wage conference with operators of the central competitive field was doubtful until the big coal stocks now on hand had been depleted. Operators here said that the stocks on hand would meet the country's requirements for two months and that meanwhile non-union fields could supply almost half of the normal demand.

Columbus, Ga., March 22.—(Special.)—Fort Benning authorities today were trying to clear up the mystery attending discovery yesterday afternoon in the Chattahoochee at Jakin of the body of Private Beal Sullivan, company A, 29th infantry, formerly of Monticello, Ark.

Private Sullivan was last seen on Friday, March 10, just before he left the reservation for a short leave, according to Captain B. A. Shipp, commander of the company. It is stated that a member of the company gave Sullivan a sum of money, with which to make some purchases in Columbus The day upon which the private left the fort for the last time was fay day.

It is known that Sullivan had money on his person when he left Fort Benning, and reports from Jakin, where the body was drawn from the river, state that no money was found in the pockets of the uniform clothing on the body of the former soldier. In view of these facts, the inference has been drawn by certain members fo his company that foul play occurred.

garments had to be fitted more closely, sleeyes had to be shaped to the shoulders and the arms.

Moreover, with the Renaissance, stays came into use, and there were artificial contraptions to accentuate the Irendth of the hips and shoulders. At the present time, though great quantities of stiffer, less pliable fabrics are used, our fabric makers are also supplying us with materials of admirable suppleness. And the designers wisely do not attempt gowns of Moyen age spirit with any but the most pliant of these materials. And they do not have the handicap of artificially constricted or extended figures on which to place these Moyen age costumes. ### SHOULD WOMEN HAVE PETS?

Have you a cat or a dog? Someone said that a room without pietures is like a house without windows; I would add that a house with out animals is like a ward in a poorhouse. Many women seem to dis like them; they say that dogs bring mud into the dwelling, or they have an instinctive repulsion for those slimy creatures, the cats. I can not understand it, for I find magic in all living things, the dog, cheeful, sentimental and boastful; the cat, subtle, secret, infinitely dis guished: the pig. humorous and excitable; the horse, nervous dramatic, the fleet fish, the trim bird, the cockroach who see no attraction in the cockroach except speed.

Every house should have its pets, because they give a woman things to take care of. Husband and children are not enough; woman cannot have too much love. But it is the children I am think ing of. They need animals because here are inferior things the chil dren can protect. The child can do nothing for its elders except love them, but a cat or a dog it can feed, carry, amuse; the little girl who dresses up a wretched dog in her doll's clothes is learning maternity; the boy who throws a ball for his dog is being taught to amuse h children to come. Also cats and dogs suffer and cry; to learn to spare them pain is one good way to remain tender as one grows up (Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

The Wind Blows Favorably For the | clothes. But the mid-Victorian won Present Revival of Moyen Age Costumery.

A more auspicious time could not have occurred for a revival of Moyen age styles than at present. Historians tell us that one of the reat differences between the costum both of men and women in the middle age period and in the Renaissance was the result of the fabrics used. In the middle ages fabrics were supple, pli-able. clinging. The Renaissance brought into vogue satins, velvets, brocades. metallic fabrics. And with these came costumes — beautiful though they were—that revealed less of the natural grace of the body. In order not to be clumsy and shapeless

Partly the difficulty we due to the figures of the mid-Victori women who were to wear the co-tumes, and partly to the fact that the materials he worked with were not a supple as were those actually employ ed by the dressmakers in the middle ages.

And now both these barriers are down. It is with real delight flow that the designer produces a frock of Moyen age spirit. Everything is sefor this achievement.

Successful Woman Farmer Running In Alabama for Seat in Congress

Birmingham, Ala., March 22 .-(Special.)-Mrs. Lelia Seton Edmundson, only woman from the southern states who has ever announced for congress, says she wants to represent the Eighth Alabama district, mainly for the purpose of assisting in the enactment of national laws for the benefit of the southern cotton farmers especially, and the farmers of the nation generally.

The greater part of Mrs. Edmund-son's life has been spent in the busi-ness of cotton growing on "Wilder Place," her magnificent 1,600-acre cotton plantation which lies along the Tennessee river, near Decatur, Ala. Years of practical experience on a cotof scientific inethods of farming, has given Mrs. Edmundson much knowledge of farming methods and farming conditions in the south. For a number of years she managed her big plantation all alone and made a wonplantation all alone, and made a won-plantation all alone, and made a wonderful success as a producer of cotton; so much so that she was called "The Cotton Queen of the South."

In more recent years Mrs. Edmundson has devoted a portion of her time to raising fine cattle and hogs, and she has also made a success of this venture. A few years ago she added modern machinery to her farm, which proved an eye-opener to many of the natives who had never seen farm machinery like the modern day kind.

Made Her Own Market

Made Her Own Market. Made Her Own Market.

Mrs. Edmundson is not only a practical and scientific farmer, but she is a business farmer as well. After the close of the world war there was difficulty in finding a market for cotton. Mrs. Edmundson made a market, or rather she discovered a market. In company with her husband, W. B. Edmundson, she made three voyages across the Atlantic ocean in search of a market where she could disnose of her big cotton crop. At dispose of her big cotton crop. At Genoa, Italy, she negotiated for the sale of her crop of cotton as well as that of some of her netghbors' cotton. In years past Mrs. Edmundson visited practically every country in the world. Her object was to ascertain whether or not the countries visited world. Her object was to ascertain whether or not the countries visited used cotton, and whether or not there was a possible market for cotton in those countries. In some of the countries visited she succeeded in establishing a market for cotton where there was no market before.

One night the tall captain answered a ring on the doorbell only to look into the close-packed fog. "Dratted kids," he muttered and was for closing the door when he saw a bundle at his feet. He picked it up and took in to the major.

A one-year-old baby was as out of place in this establishment of pipes, books and unwashed dishes as a but-terfly in a doghouse. Propped up in a big easy chair, it looked confidently at the dismayed men who stood help-lessly and watched it.

"Maje," said the captain, "this here infant upsets all order and tradition.
What are we going to do about it?"
The major poked a finger warily in the baby's ribs and grinned when it squealed. "Might be good company," he ventured, "if it wouldn't holler, and have to be fed and rocked to sleen."

For more than an hour the two re-

For more than an hour the two regarded the foundling and discussed its future. Then the major had an idea. "Cap," he said, "we'll sneak it across the street to Miss Aylesworth. She mothers half the kids in town anyway and is just the one to bring up our child, this here child, to be acceled:

Solemnly they drew the straws which decided that maje should be the bearer of the burden, while Cap, from the porch, stood guard. The baby, for the second time in one evening, was deposited on a doorstep, and tor the second time there was a scurrying away in the darkness.

"I felt," confessed Maje, as the two peered through the window of their darkened living room, "as if I were planting a bomb or something."

Just what the baby's advent into the home of Miss Aylesworth meant no one but she will ever know. The late into the night, but they did not know of the hurried transformation of a clothes basker into a cradle, of the searching out of best blankets, or of the plans and creams that were born.

"There is only one thing," said Miss Aylesworth to herself, "and that is what the new girl will think about it. It is so hard to get a girl and when she applied for the position I didn't have a baby. I will leave it all to her and if she objects I will turn the child over to the authorities." That is the way Miss Aylesworth settled it, knowing in her heart all the time that the new girl would leave before the baby would be turned away.

Grace, the new girl, looked thin and drawn the next morning when she arrived to take over her duties. She knocked at the back door, was shown the neat intricacies of the kitchen and pantry and then, while the heart of the mistress was fluttering strangely, was led into the living room, where the baby sat on the floor.

"Now, Grace," said Miss Aylesworth crisply, "if you don't like children, say so right now," and she looked at the girl for an answer.

Notable District.

The Eighth Congressional district of Alabama is one of the most noted congressional districts in the entire southland. This district came into southland. This district came into note some years ago, owing to the fact that the congressman who represented the district upon the floors of congress was General Joe Wheeler—"Fighting Little Joe"—hero, of three wars. Today Muscle Shoals, which is located in this district, holds the center of the stage in the legislature-making body of the nation, due to the fact that congress is now considering leasthat congress is now considering leas-ing the water power rights for the generation of electrical power and the manufacture of fertilizer for the farmers of the nation. For several years Mrs. Edmundson has taken considerable interest in the development of the water power at Muscle Shoals, and is greatly interested in the manufacture of fertilizer there for the farmers of America.

Mrs. Edmundson is opposing Judge Mrs. Edmundson is opposing Judge Ed B. Almon, of Tuscumbia, present incumbent, for the democratic nomination for congress from the Eighth Alabama district. Mrs. Edmundson and Judge Almon are the only candidates, and the contest to be waged between them gives promise of being the most interesting contest ever waged for a seat in congress in any state of the seat in congress in any state of the union. The district is largely demounion. The district is largely demo-cratic, hence the nomination by the democrats means election to the of-fice. Friends of Mrs. Edmundson are confident that she will be nominated and elected, as many of the farm or-ganizations as well as many of the women's organizations are supporting

Within the next few days Mrs. Ed-mundson says that she will establish campaign headquarters, and that she will make a number of speeches in the seven counties of the district. "I will make an active campaign of the district, up until the date of the primary election, August 8." she said.

The burglary had served a double purpose. It had not only relieved Jeanne of the terrible fear that the fake jewels would be found, but it had served to bring together again Barstowe and his irate family.

All memory of the unpleasantness of the former afternoon had been swept away in the disaster, for amongthe valuables in the safe had been those priceless prints, which Jeffries, the secretary, had shown Jeanne and many of her mother-in-law's jewels were there also.

All—Except Atlanta

Every city in the United States of over two hundred thousand population, and over, has raised its quota in the Jewish Relief campaign except Atlanta.

Many of these cities have oversubscribed their quotas. Many cities smaller than Atlanta have raised a quota as large as Atlanta's.

More important than this by far is the fact that to Atlanta has been delegated the task of saving helpless human beings from starvation and death. Civic pride is well enough, but this means life and death.

There remain fifteen thousand dollars of Atlanta's quota unsubscribed. There are in Atlanta somewhere one hundred and fifty people who will give one hundred dollars each, ten dollars a month for ten months, in addition to what has been given.

They will insure by this Atlanta's quota. They will be sure, by this that everything that can be done for these unfortunate people across the sea will be done.

They will be sure that no man, woman or child will die in misery because Atlanta has not done its share.

Many of these had intended all along to do something to help, but had forgotten. Many have already subscribed, but can easily add to what they have already given. These people are now going to complete the job here—of Vogel she knew there would be no mercy. The numbness flashed from her, and blazing with primal fury, she leaped upon him, tearing at the hands gripping Lenore's throat, striking his face—and he dropped Lenore and turned upon her with a bellow of fury. Lenore fell to the floor, gasping, scarcely living, while Marjorie desperately fought the overpowering force which slowly drove her hack, pinioned her arms, held her helpless, panting.

"Things are going your way, aren't they!" he sneered, his face close to hers. "Yes, you're having your own way! I'm forced to leave! driven out! But before I go I'll have my way with you!" he threatened, but Marjorie suddenly wrenched an arm free and stopped his mouth with a terrible blow.

Back and forth and around the room they struggled. Three times he nearly mastered her with the brute strength of his huge arms and hands, but her months of work in the open had trained and hardened the muscles behind Marjorie's fair, soft skin, and time after time she broke his hold. Gasping for breath, her clothing in shreds, her hair disheveled, she fought on—on—while through the Joshaus and on toward the little home Jerry rode slowly.

fought desperately to stop his maneuver.

"Get the gun," he called hoarsely to Marjorie, but before she could reach the door Vogel swept Jerry back, and the men, fighting like beasts of the jungle, blocked the way. With a supreme effort Jerry broke Vogel's hold upon his throat, and sunk his own fingers deep into Wolf's neck, holding him an instant. Frantic, anxious to help, Marjorie picked up a part of the wrecked chair and struck at Vogel's head with all her strength—but he lifted his arm as he fought to break Jerry's hold, the blow glanced on his elbow and struck Jerry over the eyes. He staggered groggily. Wolf broke away and plunged through the door.

Unsteady, panting. Vogel ran toward the gun, stocped, reached a shaking hand for it—and turned to face Jerry, staggering, but unconquerable, charging. Realizing that he had to kill with the first shot, Vogel aimed carefully. Suddenly a roar rent the sunlit silence of the morning, a booming chorus. The giant crumpled to the ground so suddenly that the bos stumbled over his body and fell, and when he half raised himself, looking back, dazed, bewildered, it was to see the little old man half crouching, a smoking six-gun in each hand, a big horse at his back. Sarah and Betsy had sung their song.

Jerry slowly got to his feet. Still a little dazed, he looked at the crumpled giant on the ground, and then into the eternal blue of the sunlit skies. A moment he looked, his bewildering slipped away from him, and he hurried into the house while Rainbow Ben grimly eyed the thing on the ground.

The room was in wild disorder, lit-Unsteady, panting. Vogel ran to-

After Rainbow rode away, Jerry fied his pack and blaukets behind the addinished Majior West came hurrying to the station to welcome him home, followed by Mrs. West and other old friends. But at last he loped out of the straggling town, his eyes wandering over the sun-flooded slopes of the valley, and a wonderful content stealing into his heart.

Rainbow Ben and his posse closed in upon the Circle Dagger with the deadly carnestness of their kind. Not a man was to be found there. Guided by the comely brown girl, they wentdown a ladder in the middle well and entered the secret cave room, but it was vacnnt.

The girl apparently being bent upon detaining them as long as possible, Rainbow became suspicious. "Somethin' is worryin' me more every minnit! You boys keep her bere, guard everythin', while I do some ridin'! I got to make plumb sartin, or somethin'!"

All through the night Jerry watched shadows.

All through the night Jerry watched beside Lenore, his heart and will fighting for her, grimly, tenderly. And as the hours wore on her sleep became more quiet, her breathing less strained and more regular. The sun was an hour high when she opened her eyes. For a moment she looked at Jerry almost unbelieving, and then a light of pure joy flooded her eyes while she reached her hands to touch his face—and in a little while he called Marjorie, and went out.

The days of care and watching grew into a week. Friends tried and close, came to help. Lenore grew brighter, happy and content in the presence of Marjorie and Jerry. Nearly every evening, his work finished, Rainbow Ben stopped in, his chuckling accounts of the happenings of the day driving gloom far away from the little home.

Amid her pillows, Lenore watched Jerry or Marjorie, whispering her thoughts, a wonderful joy in her eyes. Mary Harkness came down to visit her one afternoon, and stayed on into the evening, Marjorie persuading her to remain to supper, and promising Lem that Jerry would take her home. Lenore had been sleeping quietly while Jerry sat besde her bed. The other two had washed the supper dishes, and were resting, talking, when Jerry called Marjorie. Meeting at Boys' High meet with the prep league directors as assistants.

The prep league directors held one the best meetings last night in the oys' High school building in the history of the league. There was perfect narmony among all the magnates and several very important matters were disposed of in easy manner. The prep league basiall schedule for the coming season was adopted manimously. It will start on Tuesday afternoon, April 11, with University at Marist and G. M. If the coach of the Petrels sees fit to place Partridge at his customary post, on third, then either Rutledge or Simpson will hold the second sack. From appearances, the combination of Partridge on short, with Hafele on third, seems to be the best for the Petrels. In the practice game against Tech High, Partridge got three hits out of four times at bat; a triple, a double and a single. "Red" Cox connected nicely with the ball for a safe hit to the outfield out of two.

"Big" Simpson will do the receiving for the first game, at least. Simpson is the most consistent player in the Oglethorpe camp. Rarely does he fail to deliver when called on, and has the personality that commands the best

Johnny Dobbs has just about decided on the lineup he will school to start in the Southern League pennant his team out as soon as possible, as he is determined to send a perfect working machine into the league season and barring accidents or miscalculations, it looks as if the Pélican leader can start his teamwork right now.

calculations, it looks as if the Pelican leader can start his teamwork right now.

There are only two positions on the Pelican infield at present which aren't definitely decided in Dobb's mind, and those are first base and shortstop. Dobbs has resolved to keep Johnny Wight at short, having discovered the ex-Tulanian a better man at the shortfield than at third. Furthermore, in Forbes, Dobbs believes the Pelicans have the best third sacker the league will see this season, and Wight hardly could expect to crowd him out of a job.

First baseman Henry has reported and Dobbs expects him to take his place in the lineup either today or the latter part of the week. Henry is an experienced and highly rated man—said to be just as good a man as Roy Leslie—and if that is so, Ricks will have to go some to hold a regular berth at first, though Ricks has shown such splendid form the manager Dobbs probably will have to carry him into the season as a reserve.

"Cotton" Knaupp hardly could be dispensed with at second base while at short Johnny Wight is going to stay as long as he shows ability to hold down the job and keep up his at short Johnny Wight is going to stay as long as he shows ability to hold down the job and keep up his hitting. Johnny Monroe is nursing a boil and probably will not be in the game today, though he is taking light exercise daily and is in good form. Miller Huggins has a tough task ahead of him wondering what lineup he will be able to get the best results out of in the American League flag out of in the American League Hag struggle.

Miller is well enough fixed on infielders, and it looks that Pipp at first, Ward at second and Baker or McNally at third will be o. k. But with Ruth and Meusel suspended the first month of the season and Bobble Roth ruled off. Hug will have to choose his outer gardners from among Fewster, Elmer Miller, McMillan, Skinner and Haines. Miller and Fewster are good outfilders, but none of the others ever has had the none of the others ever has had experience needed and it would easy to make a mistake on them.

"The air is rather nifty," said Manager Matty last week as he pulled the old red sweater on at Rickwood.

"This cold weather means no work today, I guess," said a muscle-bound rookie.

"Likehellitdoes!" chirped the veteran Smutter, who is in charge of the Baronial squad while Manager Moley is over in bathland at Hot Springs looking over George Gibson's crop ot Pirate rookies.

The rookies and no more, but joined his comrades in pantalcoping and slide-padding his manly frame. This done, the bunch took their usual morning work, but just a little more carefully than when the sun is warm and the zephyrs are busy.

"Just toss her around," admonished Matty. "Go to it methodically—not too zippy, there lad!"

Take It Easy.

And, so they spent the morning ambling through their work, while Matty stood on the side lines and coached 'em. "I won't let 'em get up a sweat," he said. "Perspiration don't do a fellow any good in weather like this. He rushes around and gets the pores of his skin open, then the first thing he knows he's lolling a bit, and the chilly wind cools him off and plays thunder. But if they take it easy, even in chilly weather like this, it brings their muscles into play, limbers 'em up and keeps 'em from contracting Charlie horses, that a day's rest might give 'em."

Waiting for Sun.

If the sun warms things up a bit today, some infield work will be put on tap, but there will be no Yanigan regular practice game today. "That's too much of a good thing," said Matty. "I'll let 'em take it rather easy today, as they have another Wednesday, and they'll get plenty of work then."

And the chances are this article of pld diet or this little message will be used again and with the same results on next. Tuesday when Battling Budd, of Atlanta, projects himself into the ring with Young Stribling, of Macon, in the windup of this card.

Battling Budd has a hunch that he is the master of the Stribling chap and there are a lot of other fight fans around these parts that are laboring under this same hunch, and there will be a lot of surprised folks about here if Budd doesn't put this Macon flash away.

GA.-BENNING GAME TIED 1-1

Athens, Ga., March 22.—(Special.) In a hard fought game, the Georgia Bulldogs made the series of two games with Camp Benning, one game in the won column and a one to one tie. The army lads tied the score in the ninth here this afternoon after the Dogs had tallied one in the fifth. Sales, for the collegians, pitched a good game until the seventh, when he was taken out in favor of Spicer, who allowed two hits in as many innings.

The game was played under more favorable circumstances than the opener, the afternoon being clear and only slightly chilly. Georgia made her only run in the fifth after Allen and Rawson had struck out. Sales tried for a hit and got it. Cody walked, and Josh Watson let loose a screaming single that brought Sales across the plate. Clarke missed the chance to win the game for the university when he grounded an easy roller to short. Up until the ninth, things looked good for a close win for the Bulldogs, but the army boys went the limit in their effort to even the count in the series. Lindsay walked; Klegstone popped up to third base, and when Trechter bunted to Hutcheson. Lindsay took second. With two strikes on McCarty, he hit over third, sending Lindsey to the third corner. Jones counted Lindsey with a hit to left field. The game might have cone left field. The game might have gone on indefinitely had not the Camp Ben-ning team been scheduled to catch an early evening train.

Rogers Hornsby Following Closely.

That marvelous veteran. Edward Trowbridge Collins, former. Columbia star, after all these years of wear and tear, still stands at the top of the dope in the study of the scond baseman. His closest rival in either league, according to the figures, is Rogers Hornsby, who lifts the St. Louis Cards to top rank in the National league, although Hornsby is hard pressed by the brilliant young street, Frisch, of the Giants, who seems to be the coming Eddie Collins. While the dope indicates plainly that there is a tremendous difference in the hope values of the second baseman of the two leagues, the range is much wider in the National league, but has managed to fill the keystone position with fairly good men.

The range in the National league than in the American, where every club has managed to fill the keystone position with fairly good men.

The range in the National is due largely to Hornsby's terrific hitting power and all-around attacking ability, combined with the weakness of the Chicago and Philadelphia in this position.

It is well to explain that, in studying the strengths of second basemen or shortstops especially, and more or less in the study of the position strength of any infielder, the figures cannot be confined to expressing the individual strength of the man. His defensive strength is not only his own ability but that of the infielders working with him. A good shortstop, for instance, adds much to the strength of a second baseman, and a strong second baseman, and a strong second baseman adds many points to the value of a weak shortstop. The adjusting of the Washington, New York and Boston infields in the American, and the several changes in the National, all work to affect strength not cnly of that position, but of the adjacent ones. We are compelled to figure in that manner if we are to arrive at any proper conception of the strength of infields or of teams.

conception of the strength of infields or of teams.

We find an old thing in the American league, and that is the fact that such a gift was one of the that Washington and Cleveland are exactly tied in strength. so far as second is concerned, with St. Louis slightly behind. New York, even allowing that Fewster may return to the form he promised to have before his injury, is not in first division class at second, and Ward, the figures show, is now strong. Detroit promciass at second, and ward, the ngures show, is now strong. Detroit prom-ises considerable improvement at sec-ond, and Boston and Philadelphia, while ranking close together for last place, are not far distanced in the figures. In fact, Philadelphia may develop as the season progresses and develop as the season progresses and move up close to or shead of Detroit. HORNSBY RANKS develop as the season progresses and move up close to or shead of Detroit.

HORNSBY RANKS

AT TOP,

There is no denying Hornsby's right to be ranked at the top among the National league second sackers. He has the hitting power, the general attacking ability, and he leads the league in defensive strength, in addition to all this. He needs to have that extraordinay ability, as Frisch, back at second base, where he always back at second base, where he always has desired to play, is one of the great youngsters of the game. There is a problem about Frisch which only this season will answer. Some of the keenest judges of ball players have the idea that Frisch really is too fast for a second baseman, an odd complaint. What they mean is that his speed is so great he is liable to overrun ground balls when covering fast toward first or in coming forward after slow bounders. I have known but one man who had this covering fast toward first or in coming forward after slow bounders. I have known but one man who had this fault—and that was Jimmy Callahan. Frisch showed some tendency to overrun when playing second, but it must be remembered that he is older and steadier than he was, and that he has settled greatly.

Pittsburg ranks well up in third place, with a chance to improvement during the season. If it were not for the fact that Tierney lacks the fullest experience, the Pirates' rank would be greater. His hitting and general attacking is extremely satisfactory, and the understudies are strong. Brooklyn, with the infield shifted, has improved second base strength, and perhaps may gain more, although there is small chance of any great change in the work of Olson or of Crane that will aftect the figures much.

Crane that will aftect the figures much.

The other teams, with the exception of the Chicago Cubs, are below the average in second base strength, and Chicago is a problem. Terry, of course, will not do, and the young sters have not shown enough to replace him. The position is the weak spot in the Cub team. With that filled satisfactorily. Killefer would have a steady defensive wall, and a fighting and hustling one. Kelleher could play second excellently, but he is more needed at third.

There you are. The figures tell the rest of the story and tell it well, Five of the American league clubs have, in the figure dope, second assemen who are strong enough to fit into pennant machines, while only three of the National second sackers are of championship caliber. And it is very seldom that any team can win without a competent second baseman, no matter what the strength of the rest of the team may be.

In the next article we will tackle what the strength of the rest of the team may be.

In the next article we will tackle the third basemen. It looks as if the strength and weakness is more widely scattered among the third basemen even than it is among the second sackers. We shall see.

GIVEN TO GERMANY

Paris, March 22—(By the Associated Press.)—The conditions under which the reparations commission will grant Germany a partial moratorium were announced today. They include perfect autonomy for the Reichsbank and new legislation to prevent evasion of German capital, the legislation to be ready for application upon a fixed date.

A number of reforms in German financial methods are stipulated. These must go into effect at fixed dates, beginning May 31. New resources for reparations money must be found and the funds collected under the control of the allied committee on quarantees, which will passupon their effectiveness and probable yield. If they are found insufficient the reparations commission will consider a number of other measures, in cluding a domestic or foreign loan and eventually a levy upon capital in Germany.

It is stipulated that if reparation payments in kind to the value of 1,450 000,000 gold marks yearly arenet entirely delivered the balance may be required in cash.

If the German government fails to apply the reforms upon which the partial moratorium is conditioned the allies may resort to the terms of the annex to the treaty of Versailles authorizing them to take further pledges as a guarantee of reparations payments.

of stealing $31,000 worth of assets in bankruptcy proceedings, Jacob Harris and Joseph Whener, wholesale jewelers, today were bound for Atlanta penitentiary to serve sentences of a rear and a day each.

Wiener, according to the evidence, placed $29,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry in a safe deposit want, took a trip to Buffalo with a suitcase filled with gravel, and a few flays later wired his partner. Harris, that he had lost the $29,000 in jewelry and $2,000 in cash in a dice game played in a Buffalo hotel.

The fact that no complaint was made to the hotel management or to the police led to an investigation when hankruptcy proceedings were begun against the firm a short time later.

Some of the creditors were skeptical of the crap game, charged the partners with unlawfully concealing assets and succeeded in having them indicted March 7. Two weeks later they broke down and led the detectives to the vault where the jewelry was found. They pleaded guilty in federal court.

Oriticism of the government's policy dinally reached a point where Lord Birkenhead was forced to declare that pacification of Ireland might necessitate throwing a cordon of British troops completely around the danger zone.

Birkenhead declared that the situation on Ulster's frontier was the only threat to complete success of the Anglo-Irish peace agreement.

"It may be possible," he told the peers, "to form a zone between the contesting parties, with British troops occupying this neutral territory until the boundary question has been settled."

Birkenhead's speech was made in reply to the warning by Lord Carson that the house of lords should not approve the treaty until the government has pledged its word that it would be responsible for the maintenance of order, by British troops, until the question of Ulster's frontiers had been definitely settled.

The burning of houses along the border, sniping along the line, and the construction of trenches by both sides continued Wednesday.

equipment has been installed under the plane contemplated by the people of Carnesville.

Jefferson City, Mo. is one of the places to plan for such a service to its residents. There, the city authorities have provided for the expenditure of a fund of $3,000 for wireless equipment to be used in gathering crop reports and agricultural news in the state. However, Jefferson-City has not the advantages of a nearby broadcasting station, and is going ahead toward the installation of a station which can broadcast the reports and news over the section interested in state reports.

It is for the broadcasting station that the major portion of this $3,000 appropriation will be spent. The receiving part of the apparatus will take only a small portion of the money. And communities of Georgia which decide on installation of receiving sets will find that a few hundred dollars will give them the required radio equipment.

Questions and Answers

There are plenty of amateurs who use the term in their radio talk continually. And they know of what they speak. And those with the smaller receiving sets talk of wave lengths, too, and while they know the difficulties of trying to mix a long wave length and a short wave length, they are a little hazy as to exactly what the wave length is.

Radio waves in their passage through the ether travel in unceasing undulating wave form similar to those waves at the seashore. Thus, when the wind is blowing hard and steady the distance between each wave crest is comparatively long, while if the wind is blowing more mildly and in short spurts, the distance between the wave crests is accordingly shorter and we have short waves.

In radio substitute the wind for the transmitter and you have the same action, so to speak. Wave length is, therefore, closely tied with frequency. This means that long wave lengths have low natural frequencies. In general, short wave lengths are used for short distance low power work, while long wave lengths are employed for long distance high power work.

The Two Systems of Amplification and Their Separate Advantages.

There are two systems of amplification. One is called radio frequency and the other is called audio frequency amplification is used, but soon there will be a much greater increase in the use of radio frequency amplification for reasons which we will explain as follows:

First, radio amplification is that which after the frequency with which it was

will explain as follows:

First, radio amplification is that which takes the signat or music directly from the aerial and amplifies it at its original radio frequency, or at the frequency with which it was shot out into the air from the distant transmitter. After having been amplified, let us say, by two stages of amplification, the signal, which may be either radio-telegraphic or radio-telephonic, is then rectified by a detector vacuum tube whose duty it is to step the frequency down to "audible frequency."

Special Advantages.

Special Advantages. If we wish to use a loud speaker, and if the signal is from a very remote station, we then again amplify it by passing it through, let us say two stages of audio frequency ampli-

An outfit employing these two types of amplification is, therefore, known as a radio-audio amplifier, and is of atmospheric disturbances and, therefore, do not have to take the necessary precautions of lightning protective equipment.

Another advantage is that it is undertactive deal. Another advantage is that it is unobstructive and compact. Still another advantage is that the loop aerial has decided directive qualities; that is to say, we may place the loop on a movable stand and focus the plane of its windings in such way as to ing stations.

In general, this type of indoor loop aerial means that we must use both radio and audio frequency amplification necessitating the use of more vacuum tubes and more power to operate them. Such amplification is therefore, more costly.

In general, this type of indoor loop nerial means that we must use both radio and audio frequency amplification necessitating the use of more vacuum tubes and more power to operate them. Such amplification is therefore, more costly.

First Rectified.

Audio frequency amplification is that in which the signal is received from the antenna and first rectified by a detector tube, and from then on amplified at audio frequencies by the customary two-stage amplifier. Of course, this method requires that the antenna system pick up a comparatively greater amount of energy from the nir than the loop system, especial ly if we are to use a loud speaker in conjunction with the receiver.

Generally speaking, one detector and two-stages of audio frequency amplification will suffice for receiving a hroadcasting station at least 190 miles distant, and under favora ble conditions possibly up to 1,000 miles, employing the head telephone receivers.

If we wish to use a loud speaker in connection with this combination in connection with this combination the receiving range is of course, materially reduced because there will not be enough energy received from a station several hundred miles distant to operate a loud-speaking device satisfactorily. From 25 to 50 miles, however, may be accomplished with a loud speaker and a two-step amplifier.

There's a Limit.

If we wish to increase the distance we can not add indefinitely to the

If we wish to increase the distance we can not add indefinitely to the audio frequency amplifier—we can not have four, five or six stages of audio frequency amplification without a great deal of noises, howlings and other undesirable operating defects encountered when more than two stages of such amplification are used. What we do in order to get around this is to first amplify the signals at radio frequency as previously mentioned, then pass them through a detector, and finally amplify at audio frequency. By doing this we considerably increase the range when using an outdoor antenna Going back to the loop antenna it may be said in general that the same results may be accomplished with the loop, two-stages of radio frequency amplification, as may be accomplished with the outdoor antenna, one detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification.

The first will cost somewhat more.

and two-stages of audio frequency amplification.

The first will cost somewhat more to operate, but will have the advantages previously mentioned. The second will be less costiy, but we must employ the outdoor antenna.

A la Phonopragh.

Future development will probably reduce the cost of indoor loop reception, and we shall then have radio broadcasting reception "a la phonograph;" that is to say, a complete cabinet receiver with loop aerial detector and amplifier systems and all necessary batteries embodied in one portable unit, one easily moved about in a room at the will of the operator. This will indeed, be the ideal way to receive the many features of the modern broadcasting stations.

Inasmuch as there was no indication which was construed as favorable in its reference to two-thirds of the belt and unfavorable only in the east, where farm work has been delayed by recent rains.

Inasmuch as there was no indication shown on the weather may of prospective rains for another day of two at least it was believed that the soil would rapidly dry out and enable farmers to get into the fields. While the market opened steady with March 4 points lower under notices, and other months 2 to 7 points higher, it soon yielded to the weight esselling pressure induced by the weather news and declined a dozen points or so under the previous night. This was later increased to a decline of 12 to 20 points, May reaching 11-17 and July 11-27 at the lowest of the day, which occurred in the afternoon.

The selling movement was in reseased and by reports from the dry goods market to the effect that business was very dull and that cloth prices at Fall River were beginning to slip in spite of the heavy curtailment. It was the belief in dry goods sections that the mills there will shortly join in the eastern wage and stopped. In additing, 2612 bines oon signed.

The resulting pressure on March contracts forced them off to 17.50, or 29 points under the previous night and at one time they sold even with May. General raillies late in the session followed private cables that Manchester was active and doing a large business, and the market closed steady with prices I points lower to 5, points net higher, late de

Improvement In Prices For Farm Products

Washington, March 22.—The vast improvement in the prices of agricultural products within recent weeks is the most fundamental change in business conditions which, according to the department of commerce, are gradually returning to normal.

Although the improvement is not spread equally throughout different industries, nevertheless the department's survey of current business shows that "having regard to those fundamental industries which conshows that "naving regard to those fundamentar industries which constitute the backbone of American business, there is a very marked improvement over the conditions recorded a few months ago."

The survey, which reports conditions up to March 20, reveals that with the exception of tobacco all farm products have gained. Live stock had increased in price from 40 to 70 per cent, wool 28 per cent, and minor cereals show equally substantial gains during February and Cotton consumption is now 20 per cent larger than a year ago.

The iron and steel output increased during February, the survey shows, although prices are still low and in many cases below the pre-war level.

Pig iron production amounted to 1,630,000 tons as compared to 1,937,000 tons in February, 1921. The daily average production of 58,214 tons was the highest since February, 1921. For the first time in twelve months steel ingot production passed the two million mark.

The unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation showed a further decline of 101,000 tons, giving a total at the end of February of 4,141,000 tons. This was interpreted as indicating an increase in the corporation's operations rather than any unfavorable trend in the industry.

ly large, it was stated, because of the strike threat. Prices were alightly lower in February. The output of the bituminous coat was 3,000,000 tons greater than in January.

In the building trades, despite the affort month, contracts awarded in the twenty-seven northeastern states during February were valued at $177-365,000, an increase of $11,000,000 over January.

Unemployment conditions are reported improved, with a marked increase in weekly earnings, indicating that mills are running more hours

Wholesale Prices.

The movement of the stock market was upward. Sales on the New York stock expenses of $11,000,000 of a year ago.

Foreign trade, however, continued to decline, with a total of $251,000,000 of for the month as compared with its the lowest value for American expert trade for any month since 1915, that mills are running more hours ly large, it was stated, because of the

BY DOREMUS DANIEL & CO.

The market today was not interesting and really seems to be going through a short readjustment period, and we are beginning to think that this readjustment could be accomplished without a sharp or severe break. The Northern Pacific dividend uncertainty hung over the rails, although the lower price issues were quite strong under the leadership of New Haven where the good buying apparently continues.

The rise in onli money to 5½ per cent did not cause any particular selling, but may have thinned the buying power somewhat. Local Produce Market what.

The most definitely encouraging news was the weekly trade review of the steel industry, which showed that production was constructed by the charge of the construction was the charge of the construction of the charge of day it was the steels and yesterday the motors.

It is uncoubtedly true that there is considerable uncertainty in the market, with the result that it seems to be at the moment a trading affair, with speculators playing on the surface, as it were. Buying power is thinner, particularly in many of the specialties. Trading is somewhat quieter and sellers are still wary of confidently taking the aggressive. It might be added that the ranks of "sold out bulls" are fairly full, which may explain some of the rioling for a reaction.

Cotton Opinions.

A. A. Housman & Co.—The publication of the weekly weather report today shows satisfactory progress in cotton crop preparations in over two-thirds of the producing sections and some backwardness only in that territory where the normal planting date is yet some weeks distant. The official report was more unfavorable than was generally expected and imparted an easier tone to the market, further emphasizing the fact that at present, the public eye is fixed on no other consideration than new crop possibilities. As to the new crop developments, we still see nothing to justify the prevailing pessimism over the future supplies of raw cotton. ATLANTA LIVE STOUR MARKET.

Cotten Consumption.

Washington, March 22.—Stocks of American cotton totaling 1,907,000 bales were consumed by Great Britain, Prance, Germany and Haly during the six months ending January 31, according to a cable-gram just received by the department of agriculture today from its London representative. This is an increase of oper cent as compared with consumption of 1, 275,810 bales during the preceding six months endes during the preceding six months endes during the six months ending January 31, 1921.

The increase in Great Britain also was hearly 100 per cent as compared with consumption of 1,769,302 bales during the six months ending July 31, 1921, but department officials pointed out that the low consumption during the latter period was in large measure due to the closing down of the Lancashire mills for several weeks on account of a strike of operatives.

The figures were obtained from the International Rederation of Master Cotton Solmers and Manuary 31 there were $34.420,000 spindles in Great Britain 2,000,000 in France; 2,400,000 in Germany and 4,500,000 in Illay. ## Long Expected Reaction In Stocks Believed Near

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, March 22.-In the most reliable Wall street quarters the feeling prevailed today that the long expected reaction in the stock market was close at hand. One news factor to create uneasiness was the attitude of some 25,000 employees of New England cotton mills over the 20 per cent wage cut already announced to become effective March 27. Despite the 22 per cent cut of December, 1920, and the 20 per cent just announced, these wages are still 75 per cent above the pre-war level and the union leaders of these men are declaring that they are "unalterably opposed to any reduction in wages or any lengthening of hours." With many fails closed because of the reduced demand here and abroad, and many other mills running on part time, the operators say that the time has come for reduction of the present level of costs.

Another unbavorable news development was the strike order issued by coal mine labor leaders. Undoubtedly the increase in selling prices announced today by the United States Steel corporation is due in part there will be additional labor cost in rehandling and if it is held. In cars there will be demurrage charges. In today's annual reported the cost of iron production is in transportation charges. Before transportation charges are reduced there must be cheaper fuel. Wall street heard today that republican leaders at Washington, realizing the importance to general trade of lower freight rates, were string to contain a containing the contain portance to general trade of lower freight rates, were starting a con-certed movement to bring about lower transportation charges.

Uneasiness was also caused by the advance today in call money rates from 4 per cent, the renewal rate, to 4½, then 5, then 5½. As indicating a frame of mind one member of the stock exchange when the rate touched 5½, a large borrower, remarked. "The banks have the money and do not have to lend it. We have to borrow. That is the only excuse for the advance. Guess we will have to make up some of the losses of the banks in their bad loans of recent years."

Still another cause of uneasiness was rumors from reliable banking circles heard early in the day that if a quorum of directors could be obtained the Northern Pacific dividend would be reduced from 7 per cent to 5 at the meeting scheduled for 2 o'clock. These bankers seem to think that a reduction in the dividend had been discounted in the recent decline in Northern Pacific, that stock selling today at

So far this year orders have been placed by our railroads for 25,556 freight cars, compared with 23,346 for the whole of 1921, the smallest figures singe 1900. For the five years ending with 1913, that is before the war, the average annual purchases of freight cars was 168,000. For the freight cars was 168,000. For the five years ended with 1906, or just before the country became with freight, the annual purchases were 218,000. For the five years ended with 1921 the average annual pur-chases were only 56,000. These fig-ures carry their own story as far as the outlook for the railway equipment companies is concerned.

All of the $15,000,000 first and refunding 6 per cent bonds of Missouri Pacific offered today at 01.3-4, or on a 6.10 basis, were quickly sold.

Pacific offered today at 0134, or on a 6.10 basis, were quickly sold.

Denies Rumors.

W. C. Teagle, president of Standard Oil, of New Jersey, stated today that rumors that five large companies, including his own, were cooperating in opening up enw fields in Mexico, were premature. He said that such plans had been discussed but that so far nothing had come of them.

Steel common, which closed last night at 947-8, was sold by traders all over the stock exchange floor at the opening this morning. However, despite this heavy selling in an effort to get prices down, the opening quotation was 943-4, after which there was a quick recovery to 951-8. Traders were hoping to get the price of the stock down on the annual report of the steel corporation issued overnight. The statement was bad enough to please even the most timid of bears, who sold the stock short this morning. Gross for 1921 was only $986,749,000, against $1,755,000,000 for 1920, showing business cut smooth in half. It takes $25,415,000 to pay the annual 5 per cent dividend on the $508,000,000 common shares, but the surplus last year, after providing 7 per cent dividends for the cummulative preferred shares, was only $11,397,000, against $84,474,000 for the previous year. Hence for 1921 there quorum of directors could be obtained the Northern Pacific dividend would be reduced from 7 per cent to 5 at the meeting scheduled for 2 o'clock. These bankers seem to think that a reduction in the dividend had been discounted in the recent decline in Northern Pacific, that stock selling today at 75 and a fraction while New York Central, another 5 per cent stock, was being quotted at 877-8 and Atchison, paying 6, at 973-4. However, the best judges seemed to think that a reduction in the Northern Pacific dividend had not been discounted as far as the public was concerned and hence there was a general inclination to wait and see what happened. Long after the close of the market it was announced that the rate had been cut to 5 per cent.

Steel Trade.

Improvement in the steel trade both in demand and in the rate of operation was reported for the past week today by the Iron Age. It was stated that the situation regarding prices was stronger, although some business had recently been placed lower than the recently been placed lower than the recently been placed lower than the recently been placed with opinion in the trade divided as to the basis and continuation of the higher quotations. Improvement was reported in railroad and automobile buying.

Otis Skinner is one of the most picturesque figures in the American theater and his appearance in a new role is always an event easily looked forward to with joyous anticipation by a veritable army of admiring theatergoers whom his perforanmees have so often thrilled with varying emotions.

From advance information it is just such a character that Mr. Skinner is playing in "Blood and Sand," the drama by Tom Cushing, founded on the novel of the same title by Biasco Ibanez. As the hero of this new play Mr. Skinner appears as a bullfighter, and adept in the national sport of Spain, and the idol of the Spanish people. Of the humblest origin, his courage and his egotism have placed him on a lofty pedestal from which he is toppled by the wiles of a heartless coquette—an aristocrat for whom he is merely the toy of the moment. As a story, the novel is

The election has been called for April 18. Another development of Wednesday was the formal announcement of Virlyn Moore for the county commission.

(Coming to The Atlanta.)

Every woman in Atlanta and vicinity will want to see "The Unloved Wife," a new play in three acts, that asks how much deception should a wife tolerate on the part of her husband—the play that teaches how to retain the love of your sweetheart or husband. And after seeing this interesting dramatic success, your description of what you saw, of what you heard, will spread like a tornado. Every tongue will be talking. "The Uploved Wife." What is the answer? Love, excitement, flattery, home. You will know because you have seen and heard, your husband will know the truth because it concerns—him and you. W. H. Abbott has served as assistant in the office of the tax receiver for the past six years and has a strong political following. His frienda express themselves as confident that he will poll a splendid vote. Six More in Race.

In addition to these two candldates, Dr. W. L. Gilbert, whose resignation as a member of Fulton county ommission was accepted by Governor Hardwick Wednesday, Walter Taylor, city clerk; John W. Armistead, tem porary receiver appointed by the board to act until after the election, and W. H. Arnold, of 204 Lee street, have announced.

Mr. McCord is a resident of the ninth ward. He represented the second ward in city council for two terms, and was once a member of the Grady hospital board. He is also a past president of the Atlanta Retail Grocers' association, now known as the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' as sociation.

Another candidate for the office made known his intention of running through correspondence with friends in the city when word was received from R. J. Haynie, well-known Atlanta business man, who is making a tour of Florida.

In his letter, Mr. Haynie stated that he would return to the city Saturday and issue a formal announcement. Mr. Haynie has been in business for 20 years on Whitehall street, with J. M. High company. His decision to enter the race will be noted with interest by his many acquaintances in the city and county.

Drew Liddell, who was deputy sheriff for 8 years under Sheriff Mangum, and later was connected with the tax collector's office for four years, stated. Wednesday night that he was considering entering the race, as his friends were urging him to do so:

Abbott's Announcement, Washington, March 22.—The house gave its approval today to a provision of the army apropriation bill which would require the reduction by July of the regular army enlisted strength to 115,000 ment and then proceeded to enter upon a prolonged discussion of whether congress should direct the return to the United States of certain troops stationed in China, Hawaii, the Panama canal zone and on the Rhine. Secretary Weeks has already ordered return to the United States of Century of the China, Hawaii, the Panama canal zone and on the Rhine. Secretary Weeks has already ordered the withdrawal of the troops from the Rhine.

The bill provides that before the beginning of the coming fiscal year approximately 6,500 troops stationed in Hawaii, 2,000 men on duty in the canal zone and the entire force of 600 garrisoned in China as well as all but 500 men and officers in the army of occupation in Germany must be brought back to continental United States.

Cago, republican.

be brought back to continental United States.

Representative Crago, republican, Pennsylvania, raised a point of order against the provision on the ground that congress was attempting to usurp the power of the president to direct troop movements. The point of order, however, was overruled by Representations. ored me by making me one of his assistants. Cherishin, the memory of Mr. Armistead it will be a privilege for me to emulate his worthiness as a public servant.

"In the general election of 1929, yor, the people of Fulton county.

yon, the people of Fulton county, sected the late Mr. T. M. Armistead as tax receiver for a team of four years. His ticket was composed of himself, Mr. Zach Castsleberry and W. H. Abbott. Both Mr. Armistead and Mr. Castleberry bave passed away. I am now the only surviving member of that ticket. This election is being held to fill that unexpired term of two years and eight months. he believed congress in appropriating for maintenance of troops could properly place such limitations on the president and war department.

A motion to eliminate the provision A motion to eliminate the provision from the bill was then made by Rep-resentative Rogers, republican, Massa-chusetts, but the house adjourned be-fore a vote was taken. The bill will be taken up again Friday. term of two years and eight months.

As the surviving member of that ticket
I carnetly feel that my candidacy should meet with the approval of the years and I ask them to weigh carefully this fact when they cast their bullet."

The reorganization of the county board with four members, until after the election at which time a member to succeed Dr. Gilbert will be elected, will be effected Thursday or Friday, according to Captain George M. Hope, vice chairman of that body.

In his letter, Mr. Haynie stated

Augusta, Ga. March 22.—(Special.)—Sheriff Thomas Plunkett, of Richmond county, returned tonight from Columbia, S. C., where he went to investigate disclosures made by Mrs. J. C. Moore.

Mrs. Moore, widow of the man slain while attempting to blow a safe in Trenton, S. C., has told the authorities that Moore, alias John Notlan, was the chief participant in a number of robbries of safes in South Carolina and Georgia, the crooks making their headquarters in Augusta and Atlanta.

Mrs. Moore says she was in Augusta when her husband escaped from the Georgia penitentiary, and that he poined her here. She says he blew whe bank at Biytheville, near here, and got $1,165. At Roberta, Ga., he lost his car and had to leave in a hurry. At Gilbert, S. C., he be with the wrong safe and got only $15. At White Oak. S. C., he got $5,000 in boods, which were burned. He also got $200 in money, of which $12.50 was in gold.

Mrs. Moore detailed other work her thusband hind done in South Carolina.

"He promised me he would quit affect this season," she said. "Safeblewers do not work in summer. For the Trenton job he got his dynamite at Brookland."

Near Alken today James Carpenter found in the woods a box containing merchandise, fuses, caps and nitroglycerin. a It was near the spot where found in the woods a box containing merchandise, fuses, caps and nitroglycerin. It is inferred that when he stuck in the mud Monday morning. Rawls is in jaik at Edgefield as the man who was with Moore when the latter yas killed at Trenton. It is inferred that when he stuck in the mud be removed the box trom his car before calling for assistance.

W. H. ABBOTT Announces For Tax Receiver

TO THE VOTERS OF FUL-TON COUNTY:

I respectfully ask your ballot in the coming election. I offer my services to you to become your public servant. This is a responsible office, and I promise that treat all taxpayers with fair-ness and impartiality.

In offering myself as a candidate my life and quali-fications are before you for For six years I have been in the office of the Tax Receiver as an assistant, and through experience I have learned the exacting work of this impor-

I once made a race for this office and was 173 votes, out of over 12,000 votes cast. The fact that I made this race did not sever the friendship existing between the late Mr. Armistead and myself, but on the other hand Mr. Armistead honored my by making me one of his assistants. Cherishing the memory of Mr. Armistead, it will be a privilege for me to emulate his worthiness as a public servant.

In the general election of 1920, you, the people of Fulton County, elected the late Mr. T. M. Armistead as Tax Receiver for a term of four years. His ticket was composed of himself, Mr. Zach Castleberry and W. H. Abbott. Both Mr. Armistead and Mr. Castleberry have passed away. I am now the only surviving member of that ticket. This election is being held to fill that unexpired term of two years and eight months. As the surviving member of that ticket I carnestly feel that my candidacy should meet with the approval of the voters and I ask them to weigh carefully this fact when they cast their ballot.

I assure you that your vote and influence in my behalf will be personally appreciated.

Sincerely, W. H. ABBOTT.

Choice Boarding House Property FOR SALE

We offer for sale a modern, two-story house containing 18 rooms and 4 baths that was built for a boarding house. It has a double steam-heating plant and is located on a corner lot 65x200 feet. The situa-tion of this property is as good as could be found in Atlanta for boarding house purposes. It is about half way between the Georgian Terrace Hotel and Georgia Tech. At the present time there are enough boarders to insure a purchaser an excellent income on the investment and all of them are anxious to remain. The settling of an estate necessitates the selling of this property. Price, terms and other information on application.
